EMERGENCIES

In any emergency of any nature, come to the right side door of the press box (as you face press box), or contact any usher on duty. First aid stations are on either side of field beneath stands with trained personnel on duty. Telephones are located at the northeast, northwest, southeast, and southwest ticket booths.

RESTROOMS

Ladies' and men's restrooms are located beneath the stands and can be reached by exit from any portal. There are 4 ladies' and 4 men's restrooms on each side of the stadium and one each under the west end zone stands.

CONCESSION STANDS

Concession stands are located underneath each side of the stadium and west end stands and can be reached by exit from any portal. The stands handle soft drinks, sandwiches, cigarettes, popcorn, peanuts, candy, etc. Vendors also sell these items in the stands.

IN LEAVING

In leaving the stadium, please give utmost heed to the directions from officers on duty. New parking lots and exits roads have been added this year for your convenience. Please cooperate with traffic officers. Cars will be cleared from parking lots as quickly as possible.

Welcome

We are happy to have you in Memorial Stadium. We are proud of our Tiger football team and of Coach Frank Howard, who is beginning his twenty-fifth year as Clemson's head coach and 34th year on the Clemson staff. We are proud of the stadium itself, designed for your comfort and pleasure.

We will be even happier if you will take time to see other parts of the Clemson campus. You will observe growth and improvement in many places. Those of you visiting us for the first time will be impressed, we hope, by Clemson's physical plant in its setting of natural beauty.

This year Clemson became a university in name, as it has been in fact for some time. Clemson is deeply involved in all the activities and is sincerely committed to the attitudes that make a true university. We are engaged in teaching undergraduate men and women, and graduate students, in many fields leading to bachelors', masters', and doctors' degrees. We are engaged in research dedicated to the pursuit of truth and the advancement of science. We are engaged in public service for South Carolina and the nation.

We hope you enjoy your stay here.

We hope you come often and give us a chance to show you Clemson University at work for education of the highest quality.

HEADQUARTERS FOR THE TIGERS IN THE PEE DEE

Frank Howard, Athletic Director, Head Football Coach

A 25th Anniversary

Not many football coaches—living or dead—have had a record equal to that of Frank Howard. Now in his 25th season as head coach at one institution and his 34th on the staff, Howard can look back on an illustrious career.

Fielding post season teams, coaching all-star teams, coach of the year honors, lecturing on an international level and many other accolades have come Howard's way.

Despite offers in the past to go elsewhere, Howard has chosen to remain at Clemson and put the Tigers on the national football map and to run a sound, balanced athletic program.

In 11 years of Atlantic Coast Conference competition, Clemson has an overall 68-40-2 mark, second only to Duke. Against league foes only, the Tigers are 41-18-1 going into the 1964 season.

Clemson has played 591 games since fielding its first football team. Of these, Howard has seen 320—235 as head coach and 85 as line coach.

The Century Club . . .

Thirteen coaches who are at major football institutions (as classified by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau) have now won 100 or more games in their careers. The "Century Club" lost two of its members this year when Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and Andy Gustafson of Miami (Fla.) retired, but one new member—R. L. Blackburn of Dartmouth—was added to the list. Buff Donelli of Columbia now has 97 wins. Coach Frank Howard of Clemson ranks sixth in the nation for the most wins in a career.

ACC Comments

Intercollegiate football brings together varied segments of the university family and reaches out to include the "public." The University becomes a warmer concept for countless people who support it but for whom it otherwise would be impersonal and even remote intellectually and physically. Call this "public relations" or what you will. The American society needs all the bridges it can build between the "intellectual" community and the "work-a-day" world. Intercollegiate football is one such bridge. It displays self-discipline, competitive spirit, a striving for excellence and respect for the rules which constitute a valuable and honorable rallying point for teacher, student, and fans young and old.

Dr. John T. Caldwell
Chancellor, North Carolina State

WHAT IS THE MAJOR BENEFIT DERIVED FROM FOOTBALL AT YOUR UNIVERSITY?

Intercollegiate football is a focal point which pulls together the enthusiastic interest of students, faculty, alumni, and friends of the University everywhere. Thus it provides a bond of unity in a diverse and widespread community. It does so throughout the calendar year, but especially in the autumn when it helps assimilate new members of the University family. This cementing of loyalties is college football's greatest value. It also attracts support to the university from any who might not otherwise be aroused and it is making well-rounded men of the students who participate. If properly directed, football can do all these things without harm—indeed with benefit—to the academic program.

Dr. Robert C. Edwards
President, Clemson University

Intercollegiate athletics provides competition between universities which is good for the participants and the institutions. Those who participate derive many personal benefits, the most important of which is the development of self-discipline. Although universities are primarily concerned with academic achievement, they recognize the importance of the social and physical aspects of human development. Intercollegiate competition makes a contribution to this development.

But the most important contribution which it makes to the institution is even less tangible. The student is a part of a community. Hopefully he will become involved in the present and future of that community. In order to do so, he needs something besides history, Spanish, chemistry, etc. Athletics provides a medium by which students develop an attachment for the institution—and retain an interest in it. They develop a sense of belonging to the institution—of being a part of it. This sense of belonging which is manifested in many ways is probably the major benefit derived from intercollegiate football at the University of Maryland.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins
President, University of Maryland

Intercollegiate football serves to unite the entire University of South Carolina family—student body, alumni, faculty, staff, parents, and friends. As they all pull for our Gamecocks to win, they are brought together. Most importantly, this friendly, competitive atmosphere aids in drawing all of us closer as we work together toward our primary goal: That of providing the best possible education for the young people of our state.

Dr. Thomas F. Jones
President, University of South Carolina

Intercollegiate football, as indeed all intercollegiate athletic competition, has both immediate and indirect benefits. Competitors and spectators share these, though quite often in very different ways.

A sound intercollegiate program is essentially one aspect of the total educational program of the University. For some, it is a direct educational experience involving lessons that are never forgotten throughout all of life. For others, it is an indirect involvement calling upon an enjoyment of a game well played. For all of us, at its best, it is an experience in good sportsmanship, fair play, and a commitment to win within prescribed rules and regulations. To a very considerable degree, these are experiences closely related to life.

Dr. Paul F. Sharp
Chancellor, University of North Carolina

Wake Forest College regards intercollegiate athletics as a vital part of the total program of educational service. Football plays an important and exciting role in athletics. For the players and the coaches participation in the games, motivated by a mighty desire to win for the College, becomes an inspiring incentive to maximum effort. For the other members of the College family—students, faculty and administration—the games provide a demonstration of the total spirit and philosophy of the school in one area of activity.

There are other areas of activity, some less dramatic but all very important. The best quality of education in the development of the total personality of every student is our objective.

Dr. Harold W. Tribble
President, Wake Forest College

There are several benefits that accrue to the students and graduates of the University of Virginia from our program of intercollegiate athletics. Because of the variety of sports included, large numbers of our students are able to participate. At the same time that they enjoy recreation and physical development, they broaden their educational experience through discipline and concentrated effort, friendships with their teammates, and association with students at other colleges and universities. Since about half the active alumni of the University live outside the Commonwealth, the journeys of our teams to various parts of the country for athletic contests afford many alumni opportunities to be directly in touch with the University by attending games and meeting our players and coaches.

Dr. Edgar F. Shannon
President, University of Virginia

The Virginia Series

One of Virginia's most exciting teams in years pays a visit to Clemson today—the first invasion of a Cavalier eleven to “Death Valley” since 1960.

Actually, this will be the first visit of any of the present Virginia players to Clemson, and likewise, the initial trip to the Blue Ridge foot hills for Coach Bill Elias.

The Cavaliers are the youngest of Clemson opponents, having started the series in 1955. The Atlantic Coast Conference was formed in 1953, but the Cavaliers did not become a member until the following year. A game between the two institutions was scheduled as soon thereafter as possible.

Clemson has been highly successful against the Cavaliers in the past nine years. Successive games were played beginning in 1955 through 1960. There were no games the following two seasons, but the two resumed football relations last year and the Tigers broke a five-game winless string with a 35-0 triumph.

That particular victory was the seventh consecutive for Clemson over the Charlottesville school. The Cavaliers are still looking for their first victory over the Tigers.

Clemson had a hard-earned five-point (20-15) win in 1958 and there was a seven point (7-0) triumph in 1956 and there have been three two-touchdown spreads. The 35-point margin last year and the 47-0 runaway in 1959 represent Clemson's two biggest productions.

Two sophomores — quarterback Bob Davis and halfback Carroll Jarvis — have sparked the Cavaliers on offense this year. Davis is one of the most exciting backs ever to appear on the ACC scene.

In the opening game loss to Wake Forest he set both Virginia and conference records for total offense—334 yards. Even in last week's 24-15 loss to N. C. State, Davis amassed 251 yards running and passing. The Neptune, N. J., native is known in today's lingo as a “scrambler” but he is also an adept “hurdler” when hemmed up.

Davis, Jarvis & Co., are here to play. The “Valley” could be in for a rollicking afternoon.

“Behind Clemson Athletics 100%”

Penny Edwards—"MISS TIPARILLO."

What does she mean "cigars...cigarettes...Tiparillos"?

You'll be hearing that chant more and more—now that Tiparillos have arrived. And arrived they have. In all the right places. With all the right people.

The new Tiparillo has a neat, trim shape. It looks young and debonair. And its pearly, pliable tip pays more than lip service to your smoking pleasure.

And never before such mildness! The most careful blending of choicest imported tobaccos has seen to that. So, too, has the exclusive, veinless Ultra Cigar Wrapper* that burns so evenly and smoothly it insures complete mildness.

You can even see the mildness. The surprisingly whiter ash is visible evidence. Smoker's proof. Here is flavor you don't have to inhale to enjoy.

"Cigars...cigarettes...?" Who knows, maybe someday it will be just "Tiparillos!"

Why don't you ask for one today?

University of Virginia Cavaliers . . .

MIKE JOHNSON
South Carolina

Mike sparked defense that led USC's 1963 freshman to an unbeaten season. Top linebacker and offensive center. Big, raw-boned redhead who believes football is contact sport.

JOE WALDREP
Clemson

Has the physical attributes to do anything he goes about to accomplish. The 6-2, 206-pounder has tremendous desire and ability.

CARROLL JARVIS
Virginia

This former "all-everything" at Benedictine High in Richmond gained first unit halfback spot in spring drills and should be big Cavalier star for next three years.

Atlantic Coast Conference Sophomores with a Future

DICK ABSHER
Maryland

This 6-4, 230-pound end prospect bears a "can't miss" label. Big and strong. Also punts, kicks off and place-kicks.

DANNY TALBOTT
North Carolina

Has continued at UNC the kind of quarterback play that made him a prep all-America. Can run, pass, kick and play defense—a complete football player.

LYNN NESBITT
Wake Forest

Outstanding as freshman and in spring drills. where he won starting left guard spot. Aggressive and quick.

CHARLIE NOGGLE
North Carolina State

Follows in Wolfpack tradition of standout native-son quarterbacks, after leading 1962 freshmen in passing, rushing and scoring. Punts well and is defensive standout.

Guess who's coming out with a hot, new car at a new lower price?

DODGE, THAT'S WHO!

Dodge gave this going newcomer a familiar name—Coronet. Maybe you recognize it. But we guarantee that you've never seen a car like Coronet '65 before. Mainly because there has never been a car like this before. Listen:

IT'S BIGGER THAN THE BOTH OF THEM!

We mean Chevelle and Fairlane. Outside, Coronet sports a 117" wheelbase. Long enough to give you a big-car ride. Still its 204.3 inches overall length will permit you to close your garage door when you park it. Inside, you'll find room to accommodate people. Big people. Big people like our chief designer who is over six feet tall. Since this is a Dodge we're talking about, you'd expect Coronet to offer a lot of performance. It does—

MORE PERFORMANCE THAN YOU CAN SHAKE A FOUR-SPEED STICK AT!

This is what really separates Coronet from the herd. A choice of seven, we repeat, seven engines. A 225-cubic-inch Six and six V8's: 273 (2-bbl. carb.), 318 (2-bbl. carb.), 361 (2-bbl. carb.), 383 (4-bbl. carb.), 426 (4-bbl. carb.), 426 (two 4-bbl. carbs.). Why so many? For the same reason Howard Johnson offers 28 flavors of ice cream. No two people have exactly the same taste. Call it tailor-made performance, if you want, because that's exactly what you get. Room, ride, styling, performance—what more could you ask?

PRICE? WE THOUGHT YOU'D NEVER ASK!

Lower than the low-priced three. Right down bumper to bumper with Chevelle and Fairlane. What more could you want? A hot, new Dodge at a new lower price. For 1965, we say:

DODGE COMES ON BIG WITH

Scholarship System—The NCAA Way

by WILES HALLOCK

National Collegiate Athletic Association

IN AN ERA of amazing physical and intellectual accomplishment on the part of our college-age young men (and women), specialization seems almost of necessity the rule. Academic excellence and athletic prowess aren't often enough found in the same person. Or are they?

The answer is a resounding, "Yes, they are, a great many times." And the National Collegiate Athletic Association aims not only to spotlight the nation's outstanding football and basketball players who have demonstrated their classroom superiority, but to reward them in a meaningful way.

The NCAA will award top scholar-athletes graduating during the 1964-65 college year a total of 32 one-thousand dollar grants for post graduate and professional study.

The $35,000 necessary to finance this new scholarship program (the additional $3,000 is administrative expense) has been appropriated by the Executive Committee from football television receipts which will accrue to the NCAA this fall from the National Broadcasting Company. Participating colleges on the NCAA football TV schedule receive 96 per cent of the $6,522,000 NBC will pay as rights for the 1964 telecasts and the NCAA four per cent.

The 32 grants can only be awarded for post graduate study. Twenty-two of them will go to top football players — 11 each in the University and College Division, with the remaining 10 going to stellar cage athlete-scholars—five apiece in the major and college division basketball classifications.

Though no scholar-athletes in other sports are now included in the NCAA scholarship program, the Executive Committee has provided indirect benefit to all athletes in other sports with an appropriation of $84,088 from the TV revenue source to support instructional clinics and encourage increased participation in those sports.

The remainder of the NCAA's four per cent will go to pay for the entire administrative expense of the football television program—$81,000—and to the College Division's regional football championship reserve fund—$60,000.

Administration of the NCAA scholarship program is not established in all its detail, but the grants will be made directly to the universities or professional schools of the recipients' choice.

"A program of scholarship awards for distinguished academic achievement has been discussed from time to time for some years in the NCAA," Executive Director Walter Byers stated at the time the grants were approved last April, and NCAA President Robert F. Ray of the University of Iowa observed:

"Thirty-two scholarships are a good start, but they won't begin to take care of the number of senior football and basketball players in our member institutions who are honor students in all fields of study."

In retrospect the list of great athletes who might have qualified for such an award is legion. The Byron (Whizzer) Whites and Barry Woods of football's past, the Jerry Lucases and John Richters of basketball's present and annually the Academic All American teams would have qualified as prime candidates.

So too the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholar-athlete award winners annually honored might well be among those considered.

To reemphasize the point, a listing of both 1963 Academic All America and Hall of Fame scholar-athlete winners might well be appropriate in conclusion. Their counterparts of 1964 will be equally distinguished.

University of Virginia Cavaliers . . .

Making their first trip to Clemson are these 12 Cavaliers. Starting in the upper left hand corner and reading clockwise are center Jim Copeland, quarterback John Depenbrock, tackle Bruce Robbins, end Don Parker, halfback John Pincavage, end Larry Molinari, tackle Dick Myers, end Nicholas Ridgely, end Pat Vaughan, center Jim Sledd, fullback Bob Dunphey and halfback Roger Davis. The famed Rotunda, main building of the original Jeffersonian group, is shown in the center.

ACC COMMENTS: "Why I Play Intercollegiate Football!"

KEN WILLARD—North Carolina

"Collegiate football has provided me with a fine education. That, alone would be reason enough to play. But football is more than a means to an end. It provides thrills, fellowship and keen competition. It isn't an easy game. There is no easy way out, whether it be a week-day practice session or an important Saturday contest. It calls on an individual's stamina and drive and courage to face a good opponent. There are lessons learned on the field which I'm certain will be of immense value in life."

GLENN SASSER—North Carolina State

"A big factor in making intercollegiate football so rewarding, personally, is that you must face up to many different people, situations and problems on both sides of the scrimmage line. In high school you played with boys you grew up with and the fans were mostly parents and close friends, especially so since I attended a small high school. But our team at State is one made up of boys from the North South, large high schools, small towns, big cities, some who were all-encompassing and others who just aren't quite good enough to get a lot of recognition. Out of this mixture comes friendships that are unmatched except perhaps in some other form of athletics."

SCOTTY GLACKEN—Duke

"There are many 'most important' reasons why I play intercollegiate football. At this point in my life the education of my whole self is the primary goal for which I am striving. Football has given me a golden opportunity to pursue this in an outstanding academic institution. I would say that athletics has been the key that has opened many doors to numerous opportunities."

"Every human being needs a challenge; football has been and will continue to be mine. Participating in a team sport where each individual depends on the next for success has been for me a most satisfying and enriching experience."

DAN REEVES—South Carolina

"Competition is one of the basic ingredients of life. Whether a person tries to be a little tougher or a little better than the next person can determine what kind of a man he will be. Competition is extremely strong in intercollegiate football and especially in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Teammates trying to play ahead of other teammates and teams trying to beat other teams are the main ingredients that make football exciting."

"When I was offered a scholarship to the University of South Carolina I wondered if I would be able to compete with other athletes. The challenge that competition offers is why I play intercollegiate football."

BRIAN PICCOLO—Wake Forest

"I play intercollegiate football because I consider it to be an integral part of my college education. Football has been an invaluable aid in my preparation for the challenge of life after college."

"Unlike high school, the competition extends beyond local and conference teams to the broad national level. This presents a player with the unique experience of meeting a challenge in entirely unfamiliar surroundings. Football has taught me the responsibility of leadership, the ability to accept discipline and leadership and how to work as part of a team to attain a desired result."

TOM HODGES—UVA

"Football has been an integral part of my life. Besides providing an academic education which might otherwise have been difficult or impossible, football has been and continues to be an education within itself. By this I mean that the game requires a high degree of mental and physical cooperation from within as well as cooperation from others. I have found that when I am in football shape I think more clearly, work harder and enjoy myself more. These assets along with the good company and many other unmentioned benefits constitute more than enough reasons for my participation."

PAT CRAIN—Clemson

"Intercollegiate football has given me the chance to continue in the sport that I love to play. It teaches a person to accept any consequence, good or bad. The game is a great opportunity to further my education which I might otherwise have never had the chance. Intercollegiate football is the big step toward my goal of professional football."

KENNY AMBRUSKO—Maryland

"When I graduated from high school, I considered football merely as a means to an end: to receive an education by football. Now that I have played a few years, football means a great deal more. It has given me the opportunity to meet many great guys, not only on Maryland's team, but also on our opponents' teams. I enjoy the competition that football provides. Intercollegiate football also affords opportunities for sportsmanship and a chance to compete with the best you have to offer against your opponent's best. After the game, you congratulate one another, win or lose, for you respect each other's playing ability. This is what football means to me."

"There goes a fullback if I ever saw one!"

"They told him to run around his own end!"

Clemson Radio Network . . .

The Clemson Football Radio Network, operated wholly by the athletic department, is one of the most successful and largest in the United States.

The network begins its 11th season with the Furmar game this fall. Its prime purpose is to make available to all stations Clemson football games at economical rates in order to give Tiger football fans and other interested parties an opportunity to hear Clemson grid contests when it is not possible to attend the games.

The network has grown during the past 10 years and on Saturdays when the Tigers are playing, the network blankets the State of South Carolina. Last season there were 496 station broadcasts made, or 49.6 stations a game. The most on any one game was 59—a record high.

In addition to the varsity games, a network of 24 stations carried the Clemson-South Carolina freshman game and 19 stations broadcast the spring practice game

The same two familiar voices will again be on the network for the 1964 season. Jimmie Coggins will handle the play-by-play commentary while Ed Osborne will describe the pre-game warmup, give time out chatter and interview visiting scouts, sportswriters and other personalities in the press box during halftime.

Coggins is the dean of South Carolina sports broadcasters. He has been named the top sportscaster in the state. He is owner of Station WKDK in Newberry and is a co-owner with Osborne of Station WBCU in Union and Station WAGS in Bishopville.

Coggins is a veteran announcer of 30 years, starting with WSPA in Spartanburg, then WAIM in Anderson before going to Newberry in 1949. He did play-by-play for nine years prior to becoming associated with the Clemson Football Network.

Osborne was director of both the Clemson News Bureau and sports publicity office before going into the radio field. A Clemson graduate, he was sales representative and sports director of WMSC in Columbia from 1950 to early 1953. At that time he became associated with WBCU, a position he has held since then.

Photography The Best . . .

The old saying that "a picture is worth a 1,000 words" could very well be applied to the quality of work turned out by Clemson's three photographers.

Under the leadership of chief photographer Jim Burns, and assisted by Charlie Haralson and Billy Cromer, history is put on film and in picture for present consumption and future reference.

Burns and Haralson take game movies, running two cameras (one for coaches and one for TV). The necessary number of prints are made for scouting, exchange and showing at alumni meetings.

Main use of the TV copy is for the Frank Howard Show, shown on a five-station network the Sunday after each game, originating in the studios of WSPA-TV, Spartanburg, featuring Howard, one of his assistant coaches, with Verner Tate as anchor man.

While Burns and Haralson are shooting movies, Cromer is shooting first half action shots for distribution to the working press at the end of the game.

The Clemson press box is the only one in the Atlantic Coast Conference (and one of the few in the nation) to have a Fotorite, a rapid print process machine. This enables pictures of the game to be printed within minutes after being taken.

Any newspaper or TV station desiring to receive this service can do so simply by requesting it. At the end of the game, a set of game action pictures (usually six to eight) is brought to the individual at his working space for use in either Sunday or Monday editions.

The service has proved quite popular, especially with the Monday PM's. Even some Sunday AM's now use the Clemson Fotorite service, thus relieving a photographer and caption writer for the home base.

Last season a total of 453 pictures for four home games was printed. The largest number of requests for any one game last year was 17 sets of pictures.

This popular service will again be offered this year to the sportswriters and sports directors who cover the Clemson home games.

1964 Rules Changes

by IVAN B. WILLIAMSON

Chairman, NCAA Football Rules Committee

IF YOU DON'T THINK clock-watching is an art, pay attention to the college football coaches on the field today.

Coaches will be depending more and more on the game clock this year as a result of the new substitution rule enacted by the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The rule reads:

Any number of players may be replaced by either team during an intermission between periods. When the game clock is stopped during a period (for any reason) any number of substitutes may enter the game before the ball is put in play. When the game clock is running, two players of each team may enter the game before the ball is put in play.

Basically, the rule provides for two changes from 1963:

(1) When the clock is stopped, unlimited substitution may be employed, and

(2) When the clock is running, no more than two players may enter the game.

Thus, coaches will be eyeing the clock closely this year. There will be ample opportunity for changing platoons, if desired. Coaches may send in entire teams each time a live ball goes out of bounds, when a touchdown, field goal or safety is scored, when a touchback is made, when a penalty is assessed, or when a time-out is called by either team.

Each team is allowed four free time-outs.

Two important interpretations accompany the substitution rule.

First, when more than two substitutes enter the game with the clock running before or after the ball has been declared ready for play, a time-out shall be charged to the offending team and no penalty enforced.

Second, when a team has exhausted all of its time-outs and sends in more than two substitutes while the clock is running, all substitutes will be accepted, a five-yard penalty enforced and the clock started when the ball is ready for play.

Another change states that a substitute who enters the game must remain in the game and a player withdrawn may not re-enter until there has intervened a down, a foul occurs or at the end of a period.

In an attempt to prevent intentional grounding of a pass to stop the clock, the Committee enacted two rules. The first starts the game clock when the ball is ready for play following an illegal pass to conserve time. The second assesses a penalty of five yards and loss of the down against the illegal pass.

Other rule changes:

1. The extension of the uprights of the goal posts may be more than 20 feet if desired.

2. Tape and bandage may be used only for the protection of an injury on the wrist, forearm, elbow or hand. For purposes of prevention of injuries, a pad may be worn, provided it is neither sole leather nor other hard or unyielding substance.

3. An incoming substitute must report to a designated official.

4. On a free kick, the kicker as well as the holder may be beyond the restraining line. This makes the soccer-type kick legal.

5. Once a member of a team has signalled for a fair catch, no player on that team may carry the ball more than two steps in any direction, even if the kick has touched the ground or an opponent.

6. No player shall deliberately and maliciously use his helmet or head to butt or ram an opponent's head, neck or face. Flagrant offenders shall be disqualified.

The following statement was made by the NCAA Football Rules Committee on January 12, 1964, after it enacted a new substitution rule:

The new substitution rule represents the arrival at a position in collegiate football rules where the various alternatives which have been tested in the past have resulted in what the NCAA Football Rules Committee believes will:

1. Offer the maximum development of the player's individual skills.

2. Permit and encourage current development of all around (two-way) abilities of the most versatile players.

AND will accomplish the following beneficial results for players, coaches, officials, and the general public:

A. Reduce injuries (permit more players and more timely substituting for the benefit of fatigued players).

B. Encourage future stability in the playing rules.

C. Make the administration more efficient and easier for both coaches and officials.

D. Permit players with specialized skills not now playing to do so.

E. Represent better the varying interests of all levels of NCAA competition and encourage universality of rule adherence.

F. Bring college football, high school, and junior college football nearer to a more uniform code of playing rules.

G. Because of the utilization of the best qualities of all players, whether specialized or versatile, will have the greatest possible appeal to the millions of college football fans, increasing in number each season.

It's Different Here

Are college football games everywhere pretty much the same?—the crowds?—the bands?—the cheers? Sure there's a similarity—but it's different here! Each game has its own distinctive flavor—spirit—tradition. So it is with uniforms we manufacture. Into them go many intangibles of experience and skill. This is why an increasing number of Units are scoring with "Uniforms of Distinction" by
